- Investigation of Violent Felony Offenses

  The Department of Public Safety at New York City College of Technology investigates all crimes committed on campus, including violent felony offenses. When any crime involving a violent felony offense has been committed, the Department of Public Safety will initiate an investigation and may seek the assistance of the New York City Police Department in conducting and completing the investigation.

  "Violent felony offense" means an offense as defined in subdivision one of section 70.02 of the New York State Penal Law.
