

Chaperone's Role

Engage - Encourage - Empower

Chaperone Tips

Behavior Management

Help to maintain a safe and respectful environment by setting a positive example for students through your conduct. Encourage,

Don't Discourage: When faced with challenging student behavior, use positive reinforcement and gentle redirection instead of punitive measures.

Student Supervision

Keep an eye on your group, ensuring they stay together and follow the schedule.

Emergency Contact

Know the emergency or sick student procedures. Have contact information available and be prepared for any unexpected situations.

Supportive Mentor

Be approachable and ready to address college students' questions or concerns.

Model Interest - Show Enthusiasm

Display excitement for the college visit! Your enthusiasm is infectious. We work very hard to create a great visit for your students and want you to also enjoy your time at the college.

Ask Questions

Encourage curiosity by asking thought-provoking questions about the campus and programs.

Your Influence Matters

Your role as a chaperone is more than just supervising; it's about guiding and inspiring young minds. The positive experiences you create can shape their future choices and aspirations.

Thank you for your commitment in making this college visit a memorable and enriching experience for our students. Let's make this experience unforgettable!
