City Tech Application for Emergency Student Aid

Please read carefully: City Tech has partnered with donors--including the Petrie Foundation, Santander Bank, the federal government, and others--to provide emergency financial assistance to support students facing financial challenges that affect their livelihood and their ability to remain in school. The College may be able to help with some but not all of the emergency needs you indicate and the amount of aid may be less than you have requested.

Information provided on this application will be reviewed by a committee and used to determine student eligibility. Data will also be compiled for reporting purposes required by the funders of these grants. Otherwise, all information will be held in complete confidence.

Different donors have different criteria for how and to whom their funds can be distributed. To ensure you're being considered for the widest possible pool of funding, please check all of the below that apply to you:

☐ Filed a FAFSA for the current academic year

☐ Affected by COVID19 (if yes, specific explanation needed)

☐ U.S. citizen or permanent resident

☐ Enrolled and completed at least one course in Spring 2020

☐ Registered for classes in the Fall semester

☐ Funds needed for tuition

☐ Funds needed for a non-tuition personal emergency

Please detail below how each portion of the requested funds will be used

In an effort to assist students with financial hardship, a Financial Aid officer may contact you to discuss whether a student loan might be a good option for your current situation. In addition, we will follow-up with all emergency grant recipients within the semester to learn more about how the grant helped you meet your needs and what other resources you accessed to stabilize your financial situation.

These funds are limited and may not cover the magnitude of students' needs. Therefore, we strongly encourage students to speak with a counselor by contacting counseling@citytech.cuny.edu to discuss any personal concerns that may interfere with their education. Counselors will help students explore other available options.

I certify that the information provided on this application is true.
